Executive Order

Mrs. Edith M. White may be appointed as clerk in the Boston, Massachusetts, post office without regard to the requirements of the civil service rules.

Mrs. White is the widow of Walter H. White, a former employee of the Boston post office who died December 15, 1927, leaving her with five small children and without adequate means of support. Mr. White was a veteran of the World War.

This order is recommended by the Postmaster General.

The Civil Service Commission can not certify that the needs of the service require a waiver of the rules to permit Mrs. White's appointment but submits the case without prejudice.

For charity.
