Executive Mansion.

Washington, March 20th, 1874.

The Consulate General of the United States in Italy having been transferred from Florence to Rome and the Consulate General at Beirut in Syria having been discontinued, the Secretary of State pursuant to authority invested in me by law, is directed to instruct the Consuls in Italy to regard themselves as subordinate to the Consul General at Rome and to correspond with the Legations of the United States there through that officer; and the Consuls in Turkey to regard themselves as subordinate to the Consul General at Constantinople and to correspond with the Legation there through him. Any existing Regulations is to be considered as modified by this order.

It is also directed that Form No: 110, on page 343 referred to in paragraph 377 of the Consular Regulations be so changed as to show the value of
