Executive Order

Edward D. White may be reinstated as a letter carrier in the Oakland, California, post office, without regard to the length of time he has been separated from the service. He was appointed substitute carrier in the Oakland office on September 1, 1902; was made a regular carrier on October 1, 1903, and served until January 31, 1913. The Postmaster General states that as Mr. White is intelligent and was a very competent and faithful employe while in the service, the Department will not interpose any objection to his reinstatement in the service. The Civil Service Commission does not recommend the issuance of this order.

WOODROW WILSON

THE WHITE HOUSE,
