Executive Order.

By virtue of the powers conferred upon me by the Act of Congress approved August 10, 1917, entitled "An Act to provide further for the national security and defense by encouraging the production, conserving the supply, and controlling the distribution of food products and fuel", and of all other powers me hereto enabling, and particularly for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of said Act relating to fuel, Walker D. Hines, the Director General of Railroads, his successor in office, and his representatives, in addition to and in continuation of all powers and authority granted him and them in Executive Order of February 28, 1920, and the orders of the United States Fuel Administrator dated October 31, 1919, and December 8, 1919, are hereby authorized and empowered to make diversions of coal in the possession, as common carriers, of railroads operating in the United States, to the extent that it is necessary in the present emergency to provide for the requirements of the country in order of priority set out in the preference list included in the order of the United States Fuel Administrator of May 25, 1918; and are hereby further authorized and empowered to establish rules for the regulation of and to regulate the method of production, shipment, distribution, apportionment, or storage thereof among dealers and consumers within the United States: Provided, however, that this order shall not be construed as applicable to the export of coal from the United States, power over which was conferred upon J. W. Howe, Rembrandt Peale, F. M. Whitaker, and J. F. Fisher by the Executive Order dated February 25, 1920, reinstating the order issued by the United States Fuel Administrator dated November 6, 1917, relating to the Tidewater Coal Exchange.
