Executive Order.

In order that the Embassy at Tokyo and the Legation at Peking may keep in closer touch with the corps of interpreters and student interpreters under their respective supervision, and in order also that each of these officers who is properly qualified may have the benefit of service at the embassy or legation in the country where he is stationed, hereafter the offices of Assistant Japanese Secretary and Assistant Chinese Secretary will be filled in rotation by different qualified interpreters or student interpreters.

The Secretary of State therefore will from time to time ascertain the suggestions of the chiefs of mission and will advise the President of his recommendations for appointment.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

THE WHITE HOUSE,
