TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs

CUSTOMS REGULATIONS OF 1943

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The following regulations are made and published for the purpose of carrying out the customs and navigation laws. They shal' be strictly observed and complied with in all cases, unless compliance therewith be expressly waived in writing.

This document shall be known as "Customs Regulations of 1943".

All prior customs regulations and Marine Inspection and Navigation regulations adopted or promulgated by the Bureau of Customs which are in conflict with, or the substance of which is incorporated in, these regulations are hereby superseded, but nothing herein contained shall be construed to supersede, modify, or amend any joint regulations, or other regulations, rules, or instructions initially promulgated otherwise than as customs regulations or as the above-mentioned Marine Inspection and Navigation regulations.

These regulations are issued pursuant to the respective statutory provisions cited in parentheses at the end of each section, and pursuant to the order of the Secretary of the Treasury relating to the organization of the Bureau of Customs, the rights, privileges, powers, and duties of the Commissioner of Customs, and the duties of the personnel of the Bureau of Customs, made on July 12, 1940, and published in Treasury Decision 50192.*

The appendix to this document,† in addition to general reference material, contain the text of, or references to, sections of law and the text of regulations administered by other Government departments or agencies and enforced wholly or in part by the Customs Service.

These regulations shall be effective on and after July 1, 1943.

[SEAL] W. R. JOHNSON,
Commissioner of Customs.

Approved: May 25, 1943.

HENRY MORGENTHAU, Jr.,
Secretary of the Treasury.

§ 1.1 Customs collection districts and ports. (a) A customs collection district is the geographical area under the customs jurisdiction of a collector of customs.

(b) The terms "port" and "port of entry," as used in this volume, refer to any place designated by Executive order of the President[1] or by act of Congress at which a customs officer is assigned with authority to accept entries of merchandise, to collect duties, and to enforce the various provisions of the customs and navigation laws.

(c) There are 46 customs collection districts of the United States.[2] The following is an alphabetical list of customs collection districts with their numbers and with a list of the ports in each district.[3] The first-named port in each district (in capital letters) is the headquarters port, and the asterisk preceding the name of a port indicates that marine documents may be issued at such port.[4] The districts and ports were created by the President's message of March 3, 1913, by which he communicated to Congress his reorganization of the Customs Service pursuant to the act of August 24, 1912 (37 Stat. 434; 19 U.S.C. 1), except that certain changes in such organization have been made by subsequent Executive orders. In the following list the Executive orders issued since March 3, 1913, that affect existing districts or ports are cited in parentheses following the name of the district or port affected.

[1] The President is authorized from time to time, as the exigencies of the service may require, to rearrange, by consolidation or otherwise, the several customs-collection districts and to discontinue ports of entry by abolishing the same or establishing others in their stead: Provided, That the whole number of customs-collection districts, ports of entry, or either of them, shall at no time be made to exceed those established and authorized as on August 1, 1914, except as the same may thereafter be provided by law * * *." (19 U.S.C. 2)

[2] This does not include the customs collection district of the Virgin Islands which, although under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Treasury, has its own customs laws. (See 48 U.S.C. 1406i)

[3] In addition to the customs collection districts listed which are within the customs territory of the United States, there is the customs collection district of the Virgin Islands (No. 51), the headquarters port of which is Charlotte Amalie, St. Thomas, and the subports of which are Cruz Bay, Coral Bay, Christiansted, and Frederiksted. See appendix for a list of the customs collection districts by numbers and an alphabetical list of the ports of entry.

[4] Marine documents may be issued at Charlotte Amalie, St. Thomas, headquarters port of the customs collection district of the Virgin Islands (No. 51); at Washington, N. C., a customs station in the customs-collection district of North Carolina (No. 15); and at Biloxi, Miss., a customs station in the customs collection district of Mobile (No. 19).
